Empowering Wellness: NSS Unit and Infigo Eye Care Offer Free Health Checkups

The NSS unit of Reena Mehta College, in collaboration with Infigo Eye Care Hospital, successfully organized a health check-up session and eye care consultation for all students, teaching, and non-teaching staff. The health check-up session took place on August 9, 2024, in the college auditorium, providing participants with vital health screenings. Two experienced doctors from Infigo Eye Care Hospital conducted thorough health screenings, including basic tests like blood pressure, blood sugar levels, and general health assessments. The session was further enriched by a talk from the doctors, who emphasized the importance of regular health check-ups and maintaining a healthy lifestyle. They highlighted how early detection of health issues can prevent more serious conditions in the future, encouraging everyone to make health a priority. The informative session was highly appreciated, as it provided valuable insights into the significance of regular health monitoring and proactive care. Additionally, a special eye care consultation was arranged, offering free consultations from August 10 to 17, 2024, at Infigo Eye Care Hospital. This initiative was designed to promote health awareness and ensure that the college community takes proactive steps in maintaining their well-being. The collaboration was well-received, with many attendees expressing their appreciation for the opportunity to receive professional health advice at no cost. The NSS unit remains committed to organizing such beneficial programs in the future, reinforcing their dedication to the overall health and welfare of the college community.
